

Direct Carrier Question Intro

Inbound Call Process — Variation 1

Direct Carrier Question Introduction | Phase 1: Full Verification & Policy Snapshot

STEP 0 — Phone Answer

SCRIPT:

"Thank you for calling in, this is ____, how can I help you?"

PURPOSE:

Establishes professionalism, neutral authority, and immediate control.

STEP 1 — Carrier Question

If the caller asks: "Is this ____ Insurance?"

SCRIPT:

"That's a carrier I can help you with. Do you have your policy number?"

If YES: "Perfect — go ahead."

If NO: "No problem, I can verify you a different way."

PURPOSE:

Handles the direct carrier question while maintaining authority and moving the call into verification.

STEP 2 — Begin Verification (Use the Word VERIFY)

SCRIPT:

"Verify your first and last name?" → "Could you spell that for me." -> "Perfect"

"Verify your date of birth?" -> "Perfect"

PURPOSE:

Using the word 'verify' reinforces legitimacy. Saying 'Perfect' confirms completion and maintains authority.

STEP 3 — Reason for Call

SCRIPT:

"What can I help you with today?"

After they explain:

"Okay ____, I can definitely help you with that. I just need to verify a few more pieces of information."

PURPOSE:

Acknowledges their concern, builds trust, and gains cooperation before financial verification.

STEP 4 — Policy Snapshot Verification (7 Required Pieces)

You must VERIFY all 7:

- Name (spelled)
- Date of Birth
- Insurance Carrier -> Be careful not to ask if they already stated the company
- Problem / Reason for Call
- Monthly Premium
- Coverage Amount
- Policy Duration

Monthly Premium:

"Go ahead and verify your monthly premium for me." → "Perfect."

If client is unsure:

"Do you have a recent bank statement we can verify that from?"

If not:

"Is it more like under $50 a month or over $100?"

Coverage Amount:

"Go ahead and verify your coverage amount for me." → "Perfect."

If client is unsure (Range Narrowing Technique):

"Do you remember if it's more like $5,000 or $10,000?"

If not:

"Or is it more like $100,000 or $200,000?"

Policy Duration:

"Just so I can get this pulled up a bit easier — about how long have you had it?" → "Perfect."

Additional Policies:

“And I don’t want to get confused when pulling up your info, but do you have any other existing life insurance with any other companies?”

If Yes, get carrier, monthly premium, coverage amount, and how long ago.

If not, move on to Step 5.

PURPOSE:

The goal is categorization, not exact math. Identify policy type and size. Small range (5k–20k) likely Final Expense. Mid range (50k–150k) likely Term. Higher range (200k+) larger coverage. Always maintain calm, analytical authority.

STEP 5 — Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

“Alright [CLIENT NAME], I can definitely help you out with [Re-address the problem]. I just need to put you on a brief hold while I get everything pulled up on my end. And just in case we get disconnected, I will call you back from an [859] #. That’s my direct line, just so you don’t have to start over with someone else. Again, this is [YOUR NAME], I’m here to help. I’ll be right back. I just need about 2-3 minutes.”

PURPOSE:

Creates professionalism and legitimacy. Allows reset before the analysis phase.

CORE RULES

- Always use the word 'verify'.
- Always confirm answers with 'Perfect.'
- Do NOT sell during Phase 1.
- Follow the order!
- If the client does not know numbers, narrow the range — do not guess.

END STATE

The client believes you are reviewing their policy.

The agent has verified all 7 required data points and understands approximate policy type and size.

Client States Problem First Intro

Inbound Call Process — Variation 2

Client States Problem First | Phase 1: Full Verification & Policy Snapshot

STEP 0 — Phone Answer

SCRIPT:

"Thank you for calling in, this is ____, how can I help you?"

PURPOSE:

Establishes professionalism and neutral authority while inviting the caller to explain their situation.

STEP 1 — Client Explains Problem

Let the caller explain why they are calling!!! REALLY PAY ATTENTION HERE & TAKE NOTES

SCRIPT:

"Okay, so you're calling because [RESTATE THE ORIGINAL PROBLEM]. I can definitely help you with that."

"I just need to verify some information first."

PURPOSE:

Repeating the problem confirms understanding, builds trust, and positions you as the person solving their issue.

STEP 2 — Begin Verification

SCRIPT:

"What's your first and last name? -> Spell that for me"

"Go ahead and spell that for me." → "Perfect."

"Verify your date of birth?" → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Using the word 'verify' reinforces legitimacy and structure.

STEP 3 — Identify Insurance Carrier

SCRIPT:

"And just so I don't mix it up with anything else in our system — we do work with multiple companies — which company do you have the policy with?"

"Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Identifies the carrier while establishing that your office works across multiple companies.

STEP 4 — Policy Snapshot Verification (7 Required Pieces)

You must VERIFY all 7 pieces of information:

- Name (spelled)
- Date of Birth
- Insurance Carrier
- Problem / Reason for Call
- Monthly Premium
- Coverage Amount
- Policy Duration

Monthly Premium:

“Go ahead and verify your monthly premium for me.” → “Perfect.”

If client is unsure:

“Do you have a recent bank statement we can verify that from?”

If still unsure:

“Is it more like under $50 a month or over $100?”

Coverage Verification

SCRIPT:

“Go ahead and verify your coverage amount for me.” → “Perfect.”

If they do not know:

“Do you remember if it's more like $5,000 or $10,000?”

If not:

“Or is it more like $100,000 or $200,000?”

PURPOSE:

This range narrowing technique helps identify the approximate policy type.

Policy Duration

SCRIPT:

“Just so I can get it pulled up easier — about how long have you had it?” → “Perfect.”

Additional Policies:

“And just for my notes — is this the only policy you have with us, or do you have any other life insurance through any other companies?”

If Yes, get carrier, monthly premium, coverage amount, and how long ago.

If not, move on to Step 5.

STEP 5 — Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

"Alright ____, I can definitely help you out with (re-address the problem). I just need to put you on a brief hold while I get everything pulled up on my end. And just in case we get disconnected, I will call you back from an [859] #. That's my direct line, just so you don't have to start over with someone else. Again, my name is [YOUR NAME], I'll be right back. I just need about 2-3 minutes."

PURPOSE:

Creates professionalism and prepares the caller for the analysis phase.

CORE RULES

- Always use the word 'verify'.
- Always confirm answers with 'Perfect.'
- Do NOT sell during Phase 1.
- Follow the order of questions.
- If the client does not know numbers, narrow the range.

END STATE

The client believes you are reviewing their policy.

The agent has verified all 7 required data points and understands the approximate policy size and type.

Death Claim Extension Intro

Death Claim Extension Intro

Inbound Call Process — Death Claim Verification

STEP 0 — Phone Answer

SCRIPT:

"Thank you for calling in, this is ____, how can I help you?"

PURPOSE:

Professional greeting that allows the caller to explain the situation.

STEP 1 — Caller Explains Death Claim

Common examples of how callers begin the conversation:

- "I need to file a death claim."
- "My husband passed away and I need to report it."
- "I'm calling about a life insurance claim."

SCRIPT RESPONSE:

"I'm very sorry to hear that. I can help you with that, I just need to verify some information first."

PURPOSE:

Acknowledges the situation respectfully while transitioning into the verification process.

STEP 2 — Verify Deceased (Proposed Insured)

SCRIPT:

"First, go ahead and verify the first and last name of the insured for me."
→ "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Identifies the deceased policy holder so the correct policy can be located.

STEP 3 — Verify Caller Information

SCRIPT:

"And since you're the one calling in, I need your first and last name and date of birth as well." →
"Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Documents the identity of the person reporting the death and establishes who the agent is speaking with.

STEP 4 — Identify Insurance Carrier

SCRIPT:

"We oversee 30 different insurance companies now, which one is the policy set up through?" → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Identifies the carrier so the correct claim process can be initiated.

IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE FROM OTHER VARIATIONS

In a death claim call we DO NOT verify:

- Monthly Premium
- Coverage Amount
- Policy Duration

These questions are only used when reviewing or replacing policies. For death claims we only gather the necessary information to identify the policy and document the caller.

INFORMATION COLLECTED DURING THIS INTRO

- Deceased first and last name
- Caller first and last name
- Caller date of birth
- Insurance carrier

STEP 5 — Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

"Alright ____, I can definitely help you out with (re-address the problem). I just need to put you on a brief hold while I get everything pulled up on my end. And just in case we get disconnected, I will call you back from an [859] #. That's my direct line, just so you don't have to start over with someone else. Again, this is [YOUR NAME], I'll be right back. I just need about 2-3 minutes."

PURPOSE:

Creates professionalism and prepares the agent to review the policy and assist with the claim process.

PURPOSE:

Acknowledges the situation respectfully while transitioning into verification.

STEP 2 — Verify Deceased (Proposed Insured)

SCRIPT:

"First, go ahead and verify the first and last name of the insured for me." → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Identifies the deceased policy holder so the correct policy can be located.

STEP 3 — Verify Caller Information

SCRIPT:

"And since you're the one calling in, I need your first and last name and date of birth as well."

"Go ahead and verify your first and last name." → "Perfect."

"Go ahead and verify your date of birth."
→ "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Documents the identity of the person reporting the death and establishes who the agent is speaking with.

STEP 4 — Verify Insurance Carrier

SCRIPT:

"We oversee 30 different insurance companies now, which one is the policy set up through?" → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

The carrier must be verified before moving forward to avoid confusion between policies.

STEP 5 — Beneficiary Verification

SCRIPT:

"Are you the beneficiary of this policy?"

PURPOSE:

Determines the caller's role in the claim process and how the conversation should proceed.

STEP 6 — Beneficiary = YES or MAYBE

SCRIPT:

"Okay, like I mentioned, we oversee 30 different insurance companies, and since you might be tied to the policy, I don't want to get anything confused when I get everything pulled up."

"Do you hold any life insurance with this carrier, or have any active life insurance with any other companies?"

Then transition into verification of their policy:

"Okay perfect, the reason I ask is because I just want to make sure we don't accidentally file the wrong claim when I get everything pulled up."

"All I need to get everything aligned is your monthly premium, your coverage amount, and the number of years you've had it." → "Perfect."

STEP 7 — Beneficiary = NO

SCRIPT:

“Okay, like I mentioned, we oversee 30 different insurance companies, and since you are filing the claim, your name will now be tied to the file. I don’t want to get anything confused when I get everything pulled up.”

“Do you hold any life insurance with this carrier, or have any active life insurance with any other companies?”

Then move into the same verification:

“ All I need to get everything aligned is your monthly premium, your coverage amount, and the number of years you’ve had it.” → “Perfect.”

STEP 8 — Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

“Alright ____, I’m going to help you with that. I just need to put you on a brief hold while I get everything pulled up on my end.”

PURPOSE:

Creates professionalism and prepares the agent to review the policy information.

Non life Discovery Intro

Non-Life Insurance Discovery Intro

Inbound Call Process — Non-Life Insurance Verification & Life Insurance Discovery

STEP 0 — Phone Answer

SCRIPT:

"Thank you for calling in, this is ____, how can I help you?"

PURPOSE:

Professional greeting that allows the caller to explain their situation.

STEP 1 — Caller Explains Issue

Common examples of how callers begin the conversation:

- "I'm calling about my auto insurance."
- "I need help with my homeowners policy."
- "I'm calling about my health insurance."
- "I have a question about another type of insurance."

SCRIPT RESPONSE:

"Okay, I can definitely help you with that. I just need to verify a couple pieces of information first."

PURPOSE:

Maintains authority and keeps the caller within the verification process.

STEP 2 — Verify Insurance Carrier

SCRIPT:

"We oversee 30 different insurance companies now. Which company is that policy set up through?"
→ "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Identifies the carrier associated with the policy the caller believes they are calling about.

STEP 3 — Verify Name and Caller Date of Birth

SCRIPT:

"Can you go ahead and verify your first and last name" "Spell that for me" ->"Perfect"

"Go ahead and verify your date of birth for me." → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Confirms the caller's identity so the policy can be located.

STEP 4 — Life Insurance Discovery

SCRIPT:

"Like I mentioned we do oversee 30 insurance companies, do you happen to have any other insurance you are paying on just so I don't get any files confused? Such as any life insurance? Or health?"

→ "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Discovers whether the caller currently has life insurance or other policies while maintaining the context of verifying files.

STEP 5 — If Caller HAS Life Insurance

SCRIPT:

"Okay perfect, I just want to make sure I don't get any files confused when I get everything pulled up."

"All I need to get everything aligned is your monthly premium, your coverage amount, and the number of years you've had it." → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Allows the agent to gather a snapshot of the caller's life insurance policy.

STEP 6— Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

"Alright ____, I just need to put you on a brief hold while I get everything pulled up on my end."

PURPOSE:

Creates professionalism and prepares the agent for the next phase of the call.

INFORMATION COLLECTED DURING THIS INTRO

- Insurance Carrier
- Caller Date of Birth
- Confirmation of other active insurance
- Life Insurance Carrier (if applicable)
- Life Insurance Coverage
- Life Insurance Premium
- Life Insurance Policy Duration

END STATE

The caller believes the agent is pulling up their policy to assist with their issue while the agent has also identified and verified the caller's life insurance information.

Cancelation intro

Cancellation Intro

Inbound Call Process — Policy Cancellation / Cash Out Verification (with Replacement Paperwork)

STEP 0 — Phone Answer

SCRIPT:

"Thank you for calling in, this is ____, how can I help you?"

PURPOSE:

Professional greeting that allows the caller to explain their situation.

STEP 1 — Caller Requests Cancellation / Cash Out

Common examples:

- "I want to cancel my policy."
- "I want to cash out my life insurance."
- "I need to stop my policy."

SCRIPT:

"Okay, I can definitely help you with that. I just need to verify some information first."

PURPOSE:

Moves the conversation into the verification process.

STEP 2 — Verify Name

SCRIPT:

"Go ahead and verify your first and last name for me." → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Identify the caller so the correct policy can be located.

STEP 3 — Verify Date of Birth

SCRIPT:

"Go ahead and verify your date of birth." → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Confirm the caller's identity.

STEP 4 — Cancellation Reason (Before Premium/Coverage/Duration)

SCRIPT:

"Just for my notes, what is the reason for cancellation?"

Prompt if needed:

"Is it too expensive, or did you set up something else?"

PURPOSE:

Document the reason and route to the correct next step.

STEP 5A — If Reason = Too Expensive

SCRIPT:

"Go ahead and verify the insurance company your policy is set up through." → "Perfect."

"Go ahead and verify your monthly premium." → "Perfect."

"Go ahead and verify your coverage amount." → "Perfect."

"And about how long have you had the policy?" → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Collect current policy snapshot before proceeding.

STEP 5B — If Reason = Set Up Something Else (Replacement Paperwork)

SCRIPT:

"Okay — so the state does require replacement paperwork for when we cancel."

"Go ahead and verify the new company you have it through." → "Perfect."

"Go ahead and verify your coverage amount." → "Perfect."

"Go ahead and verify your monthly premium." → "Perfect."

"And about how long have you had the policy?" → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Extract the new policy information for replacement paperwork.

STEP 6 — Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

"Alright ____, I just need to put you on a brief hold while I get everything pulled up on my end."

PURPOSE:

Prepare for the next stage of the call.

END STATE

Agent has documented the cancellation reason and verified either the current policy snapshot or (if replacement) the new policy details needed for paperwork.

Quote Shopper Intro for CS calls

Inbound Call Process — Quote Shopper Intro

Client Calling for Quotes | Phase 1: Verification, Discovery & Qualification

STEP 0 — Phone Answer

SCRIPT:

“Thank you for calling in, this is ____, how can I help you?”

PURPOSE:

Professional greeting that allows the caller to explain their reason for calling.

STEP 1 — Client Requests Quote

The caller will normally say something like:

- “I’m calling to get a life insurance quote.”
- “I’m looking for a quote through (company name).”
- “I want to see what (insurance company) offers.”

SCRIPT RESPONSE:

“Okay perfect, I can definitely help you with that.”

“I just need to verify a couple pieces of information first.”

PURPOSE:

Keeps the call structured and establishes authority before moving forward.

STEP 2 — Begin Verification

SCRIPT:

“What’s your first and last name?”

“Go ahead and spell that for me.” → “Perfect.”

“What’s your date of birth?” → “Perfect.”

“Which company were you looking to get a quote through?” → “Perfect.”

PURPOSE:

Confirms the caller's identity and identifies the company they are interested in.

STEP 3 — Motivation Discovery

SCRIPT:

"Just so I understand — what made you start looking into life insurance today?"

Follow up questions may include:

- "Did something recently happen?"
- "Is there a reason you haven't already set something up before?"

PURPOSE:

Identifies the caller's motivation and urgency for purchasing life insurance.

STEP 4 — Existing Policy Discovery

SCRIPT:

"Do you currently have any life insurance in place right now?"

If yes:

"Perfect, some companies actually offer discounts if you already have coverage."

PURPOSE:

Determines whether the caller already has life insurance that may need to be improved, expanded, or replaced.

STEP 5 — Verify Current Policy (If Applicable)

If the caller confirms they have a policy, verify the following in order:

Monthly Premium:

"Go ahead and verify your monthly premium for me." → "Perfect."

Coverage Amount:

"Go ahead and verify your coverage amount for me." → "Perfect."

Policy Duration:

"About how long have you had the policy?" → "Perfect."

Insurance Company:

"Which company is that policy through?" → "Perfect."

PURPOSE:

Allows the agent to understand the caller's current coverage and identify improvement opportunities.

STEP 6 — Brokerage Positioning

SCRIPT:

"So ____, we are actually a life insurance brokerage, meaning we oversee 30 different life insurance companies on our end. That means we are able to see all the rates for different coverages in your state."

"I will also take a look into the company you were calling about as well."

"What exactly were you looking to set up and how much coverage were you looking for?"

PURPOSE:

Positions the agent as a broker who can compare multiple companies while acknowledging the specific company the caller asked about.

STEP 7 — Coverage Goal Discovery

SCRIPT:

"What exactly were you looking to accomplish with this coverage?"

PURPOSE:

Identifies the client's objective so the agent can recommend appropriate coverage.

Examples - burial/cremation, final expenses, mortgage, leave behind a legacy

STEP 8 — Basic Health Qualification

SCRIPT:

"Life insurance is mainly based on your age and health."

“So I just need to ask — do you currently have any major medical issues?” → “Perfect.”

PURPOSE:

Helps determine eligibility and identify which companies may offer the best options.

STEP 9 — Budget Qualification

SCRIPT:

“The last thing that would help is a general budget you were looking to be around.”

“I just want to make sure I’m looking for comfortable options for you.”

If they do not give a number:

“Would something around $100 be too much? Or less or more?”

PURPOSE:

Identifies the client’s monthly budget and allows the agent to go into the hold phase with clear expectations and ammunition for the recommendation.

STEP 10 — Hold Transition

SCRIPT:

“Perfect, I have all the information I need.”

“I’m going to take a look at all the companies on our end and see what we’re working with.”

“I just need to put you on a brief hold while I pull everything up for you. And again, my name is [YOUR NAME]. I’m going to help you out here and just in case we get disconnected, I will give you a call back from my direct line, starting with [YOUR AREA CODE], that way you don’t have to start over with someone else. I just need about 2-3 minutes. I’ll be right back, ok.”

PURPOSE:

Transitions the call from information gathering to policy analysis and preparation for the recommendation.

Intro Tips and Tricks

Intro Tips & Tricks

Inbound Call Process — Introduction Techniques

STEP — Banking Discovery Opportunity

When to use:

When the caller's problem directly relates to billing changes or regarding a payment.

Examples:

“I am calling to make a payment.”

“I’m calling to change my payment”

“I’m calling to see why my payment has not gone through”

SCRIPT:

“Okay, and is this set up on a recurring draft date?”

If the caller says no:

“Okay, is there a reason you haven't automatically set that up for recurring payments automatically out of your bank account? Sometimes they offer discounts.”

PURPOSE:

This question helps determine the client’s payment setup early in the call.

The agent is trying to identify:

- Whether the client has a bank account
- Whether the client uses a debit card only
- Whether the client mails payments
- Whether there is another reason recurring drafts are not set up

Many insurance applications require bank draft payments, so identifying this information early prevents problems later in the call.

This question gathers the information without creating skepticism from the caller.

STEP — Additional Policy Discovery

Anytime a caller is making changes to their life insurance policy, it creates an opportunity to determine whether they have additional life insurance coverage with another carrier.

Examples include:

- Beneficiary changes
- Address updates
- Banking updates
- Billing questions
- Any other policy change request

SCRIPT:

“Okay, and we actually oversee 30 different insurance companies now. Do you happen to have any other active life insurance with any other company that needs changed as well? I might be able to help with that.”

If the caller confirms another policy:

“Yep, I can definitely help you out with that one as well. Just need to verify the information on that.”

PURPOSE:

This question identifies whether the caller has other life insurance policies.

The agent gathers:

- Additional carriers
- Additional policies
- Information needed for potential consolidation

By gathering this information early, the agent is positioned to conduct a full policy review later in the call.

Standard To Preferred

Standard to Preferred Angle

Post Hold Process — Policy Improvement Angle

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem

SCRIPT:

“Alright ____, are you still with me?”

→ “Perfect.”

“Definitely going to help you out with _____ so that way you know exactly what is going on moving forward.”

PURPOSE:

This reassures the caller that their original reason for calling is still being handled before moving forward with the review.

STEP 2 — Create Confusion & Concern

SCRIPT:

“But I’m seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

“Has it been awhile since you last talked to an agent?”

→ Listen to response

“When you took out this policy did you have any major health concerns?”

Use reactions:

- “Really none?”
- “Oh that's it?”
- “Only that?”

“Nothing like heart attack, cancer, stroke, diabetes, or anything with your kidneys, liver, lungs, heart?”

Wait for client response:

PURPOSE:

This step captures the client's attention and gets them engaged in the conversation. The goal is to create curiosity and permission to explain what the agent is seeing.

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Standard → Preferred)

SCRIPT:

“Were you aware that you were in a standard policy when it sounds like you should actually be in the preferred?”

“You’re in the type of policy meant for really unhealthy people. When it sounds to me that you are healthy and should be with one of our healthy partners.”

Follow up:

“It actually looks like one of our other partner companies like (Carrier Name) would have gotten you into the healthy category, and would have given you more coverage for your family for around the exact same price.”

PURPOSE:

This reveals the issue with the client’s current policy and introduces a specific improvement opportunity using another partner carrier.

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT:

“It looks like they were trying to reach out to you to get that fixed.”

“Why in the world did you not do that when you had the chance?”

PURPOSE:

This creates emotional engagement and urgency by showing that the policy issue could have been corrected earlier.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT:

"Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened. Someone definitely dropped the ball here."

PURPOSE:

This shifts the tone so the client feels the agent is now on their side helping fix the issue.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT:

"Well ____, I'm assuming if you knew you could have been put in the right category and gotten more coverage for around the same price you probably would have done that right?"

→ Wait for response:

- "Absolutely"
- "Yes"
- "Definitely"

PURPOSE:

This gets the client to verbally agree with fixing the situation.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT:

"Well since they sent it out a long time ago ____, I'm not even quite sure they will still let you do it."

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

PURPOSE:

This creates urgency and positions the agent as the client's advocate while transitioning directly into the application.

Term To perm

TERM TO PERM ANGLE

Post Hold Process — Term Policy to Permanent Policy Angle

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem

SCRIPT

"Alright ____, are you still with me?"

→ "Perfect."

"Definitely going to help you out with _____ so that way you know exactly what is going on moving forward."

PURPOSE

This reassures the caller that their original reason for calling is still being handled before moving forward with the policy review.

STEP 2 — Create Curiosity & Concern

SCRIPT

"But I'm seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end."

"Has it been awhile since you last talked to an agent?"

→ Listen to the client's response

"When you took out this policy did you have any major health concerns?"

Use reactions:

- "Really none?"
- "Oh that's it?"
- "Only that?"

PURPOSE

This step captures the client's attention and creates curiosity so they are ready to listen to what the agent discovered.

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Term → Permanent)

SCRIPT

“Were you aware that you are in a policy that will eventually expire, and your premiums will also start going up?”

→ Pause and listen.

Once the client says they were not aware, continue:

“It’s showing here one of our other partner companies like (Carrier Name) was reaching out trying to get you into a permanent policy. One that would guarantee a payout to your family no matter how or when you pass away, and also keep your premiums level for the rest of your life. Nobody went over this with you?”

PURPOSE

This reveals the issue with the client's current policy and introduces the benefit of permanent coverage.

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT

“It looks like they were trying to reach out to you to get that fixed.”

“Why in the world did you not do that when you had the chance?”

PURPOSE

This creates emotional engagement and urgency by showing that the policy issue could have been corrected earlier.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT

“Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened. Someone definitely dropped the ball here.”

PURPOSE

This step aligns the agent with the client and shows empathy after the problem has been revealed.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well ____, I'm assuming if you knew you could have had something set up that would guarantee a payout to your family no matter how or when you pass away and keep your premiums level moving forward, you probably would have done that right?”

→ Wait for response:

- “Absolutely”
- “Yes”
- “Definitely”

PURPOSE

This gets the client to verbally agree that the permanent option would have been the better choice.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent it out a long time ago ____, I'm not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

PURPOSE

This creates urgency and positions the agent as the client's advocate while transitioning directly into the application process.

Cash Surrender

CASH SURRENDER ANGLE

Post Hold Process — Cash Value / Surrender Option

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem

SCRIPT

“Alright ____, are you still with me?”

→ “Perfect.”

“Definitely going to help you out with _____ so that way you know exactly what is going on moving forward.”

PURPOSE

This reassures the caller that their original reason for calling is still being handled before moving forward with the policy review.

STEP 2 — Create Curiosity & Concern

SCRIPT

“But I'm seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

“Has it been awhile since you last talked to an agent?”

→ Listen to the client's response.

“When you took out this policy did you have any major health concerns?”

Use reactions:

- “Really none?”
- “Oh that's it?”
- “Only that?”

PURPOSE

This step captures the client's attention and creates curiosity so they are ready to listen to what the agent discovered.

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Cash Surrender)

SCRIPT

"Were you aware that there is around $___ built up inside of your policy that is actually your money?"

"If you do not take out the money from your policy that you have built up, the insurance company would actually take that money when you pass away. It does not go to your beneficiary."

Once they say they had no idea, continue:

"It is actually showing here that one of our preferred carriers like (Carrier Name) has sent you an option to surrender your current policy and take the money for yourself, receive a tax-free check for roughly $___, and still continue to have your life insurance in place to take care of your family."

PURPOSE

This reveals that the client has money available within the policy that they may not have known about.

The client now believes they may have been able to:

- Receive a tax-free payout
- Keep life insurance protection in place
- Maintain a similar premium

This typically generates a strong emotional reaction, allowing the agent to move into the next step.

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT

"It looks like they were trying to reach out to you to get that fixed."

“Why in the world did you not do that when you had the chance?”

PURPOSE

This creates emotional engagement and urgency by showing that the issue could have been corrected earlier.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT

“Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened.”

“Someone definitely dropped the ball here.”

PURPOSE

This step aligns the agent with the client and shows empathy after the problem has been revealed.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well , I'm assuming if you knew you could have received a tax-free check for around $ and still kept your life insurance in place, you probably would have done that right?”

→ Wait for response:

- “Absolutely”
- “Yes”
- “Definitely”

PURPOSE

This gets the client to verbally agree that correcting the situation would have been the right decision.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent that out a long time ago ____, I’m not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to bat for you and reinstate what should have been explained to you by your previous agent since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

PURPOSE

This creates urgency and positions the agent as the client’s advocate while transitioning directly into the application process.

Death Claim Extension

DEATH CLAIM EXTENSION ANGLE

Post Hold Process — Death Claim Department Scenario

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem (Expanded)

SCRIPT

"I'm very sorry you're having to do this."

"Have you ever filed a death claim before?"

→ Pause and listen.

"Do you have the death certificate?"

→ Pause.

"Okay, so what I'm going to have to do is get you over to the death claims department."

"They are going to tell you who the beneficiary is, how much the policy is worth, and most importantly whether the policy was active when (NAME) passed away."

PURPOSE

This step establishes the seriousness of the situation and frames the conversation around the death benefit payout.

Mentioning the death certificate, beneficiary, and active policy status prepares the caller to think about whether the claim will actually pay out.

STEP 2 — Create Curiosity & Concern

SCRIPT

“But I am seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

→ Pause.

“When (Deceased Name) took out this policy, did you ever talk to them about it?”

→ Listen.

“When was the last time you talked to their agent about this?”

→ Listen carefully.

PURPOSE

These questions establish that the caller likely does not fully understand the policy details and has not recently spoken with an agent about the policy.

This prepares the caller to hear that something may not have been properly set up.

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Death Claim Extension)

SCRIPT

“It actually looks like there was an extension of benefits on the policy that would have allowed you to take out life insurance on yourself with a preferred carrier in our network.”

“This would have taken care of your funeral and final expenses, and it would have covered you for $___ in coverage for around $___ per month.”

→ Pause.

“Typically for someone in your age category, that rate would normally be about $50 higher than that.”

PURPOSE

This introduces a missed opportunity tied to the death claim.

The caller now believes they may have had the chance to:

- Secure their own life insurance protection
- Lock in a discounted premium
- Protect their family from funeral and final expenses

This creates both value and regret, which prepares the caller for the emotional step that follows.

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT

“Why in the world did you not go ahead and set that up when you had the chance?”

→ Pause and listen.

PURPOSE

This step creates emotional engagement by suggesting the opportunity could have already been handled.

Most callers will respond with confusion or frustration, which opens the door for the agent to move into the next step.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT

“Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened.”

“Someone definitely dropped the ball here.”

“Because that definitely should have been explained to you.”

PURPOSE

This step releases the tension created in the blame step and positions the agent as the person helping fix the situation.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well ____, I’m assuming if you knew you could have locked in your own life insurance coverage at a discounted rate, and had your funeral and final expenses taken care of, you probably would have gone ahead and set that up, right?”

→ Wait for response:

- “Yes”
 - “Absolutely”
 - “Definitely”
-

PURPOSE

This gets the caller to verbally agree that taking the offer would have been the right decision.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent that out a long time ago ____, I’m not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

→ Transition directly into the application.

Non Insurance Extension

NON-LIFE INSURANCE EXTENSION ANGLE

Post Hold Process — Non-Life Insurance Benefit Activation

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem

SCRIPT

“Alright ____, are you still with me?”

→ “Perfect.”

“Definitely going to help you out with _____ so that way you know exactly what is going on moving forward.”

PURPOSE

This reassures the caller that their original reason for calling is being handled before moving into the policy review.

STEP 2 — Create Curiosity & Concern

SCRIPT

“But I'm seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

“When was the last time you talked to an agent about this policy?”

→ Listen.

“When you originally set this up, it doesn't look like you activated the death benefits on there for when you pass away?”

→ Listen.

PURPOSE

These questions establish that the caller may not fully understand how their policy works, preparing them to hear that something may not have been properly set up.

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Non-Life Insurance Extension)

SCRIPT

"It's actually showing here that you have not activated all of your benefits."

"It's showing you also could have set up a death benefit on top of all the other insurance you already had, and it would have been at a preferred rate."

"You could have had $___ in coverage for only $___ per month."

→ Pause.

"Typically for someone in your age category, that would normally be about $50 higher than that."

PURPOSE

*This angle introduces the idea that the caller did not activate all of the benefits available to them.

The caller now believes they may have had the opportunity to:

- Add additional life insurance protection
- Lock in a discounted premium
- Stack additional coverage on top of their existing insurance

This creates the feeling that an opportunity may have been missed, setting up the emotional response needed for the next step.

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT

"Why in the world did you not go ahead and set that up when you had the chance?"

→ Pause and listen.

PURPOSE

*This step creates emotional engagement by suggesting the opportunity could have already been handled.

Most callers will respond with confusion or frustration, allowing the agent to move to the next step.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT

“Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened.”

“Someone definitely dropped the ball here.”

“Because that definitely should have been explained to you.”

PURPOSE

This step releases the tension created during the blame step and positions the agent as the person helping correct the issue.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well , I’m assuming if you knew you could have added $ in additional coverage at that discounted rate, you probably would have gone ahead and set that up, right?”

→ Wait for response:

- Yes
- Absolutely
- Definitely

PURPOSE

This step gets the caller to verbally agree that activating the benefit would have been the correct decision.

Once they say yes, they psychologically commit to the solution.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent that out a long time ago ____, I’m not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

→ Transition directly into the application process.

Consolidation

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem

SCRIPT

“Alright ____, are you still with me?”

→ “Perfect.”

“Definitely going to help you out with _____ so that way you know exactly what is going on moving forward.”

PURPOSE

This reassures the caller that their original issue is being handled before moving into the policy review.

STEP 2 — Create Curiosity & Concern

SCRIPT

“But I'm seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

“When was the last time you talked to an agent about these policies?”

→ Listen.

“When you originally set these up, did anyone ever explain how they were supposed to work together long term?”

→ Listen.

PURPOSE

These questions establish that the caller may not fully understand how their policies work together, preparing them to hear that something may not be structured correctly.

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Consolidation)

SCRIPT

"It actually looks like you currently have multiple life insurance policies through different companies."

"What most people don't realize is that when policies are spread across multiple companies, it can actually make things much more difficult on the family when the time comes to file a claim."

"Instead of filing one claim, they end up having to contact multiple insurance companies, submit multiple death certificates, and go through several different claims processes."

→ Pause.

"It's showing here that one of our preferred carriers like (Carrier Name) had actually sent an option to consolidate those policies into one plan."

"That way your family would only have to file one claim with one company, instead of dealing with multiple carriers."

"You could have had $___ in total coverage for around $___ per month."

PURPOSE

This angle introduces two key concerns:

- Making things easier for the family when a claim is filed
- Avoiding inefficiencies from having multiple policies

The caller now believes they may have been able to:

- Simplify their coverage into one policy
- Make the claims process easier for their family
- Potentially pay less for the same protection

This creates emotional engagement while keeping the focus on protecting the family.

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT

“Why in the world did you not go ahead and take care of that when you had the chance?”

→ Pause and listen.

PURPOSE

This step creates emotional engagement by suggesting the opportunity could have already been handled.

Most callers will respond with confusion or frustration, allowing the agent to move to the next step.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT

“Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened.”

“Someone definitely dropped the ball here.”

“Because that definitely should have been explained to you.”

PURPOSE

This step releases the tension created during the blame stage and positions the agent as the person helping correct the situation.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well ____, I’m assuming if you knew you could have combined those policies so your family would only have to file one claim instead of dealing with multiple insurance companies, you probably would have gone ahead and set that up, right?”

→ Wait for response:

- Yes
 - Absolutely
 - Definitely

PURPOSE

This step gets the caller to verbally agree that consolidating the coverage would have been the correct decision.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent that out a long time ago ____, I’m not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

→ Transition directly into the application process.

PURPOSE

The takeaway creates urgency by suggesting the opportunity may no longer be available, while positioning the agent as the person who will fight to fix the situation.

Work Policy

WORK POLICY ANGLE

Post Hold Process — Work Policy Scenario

STEP 1 — Reassure the Original Problem

SCRIPT

“Alright ____, are you still with me?”

→ “Perfect.”

“Definitely going to help you out with your work policy, so that way you know exactly what is going on moving forward.”

PURPOSE

Reassures the caller that you can help with their work-related coverage before transitioning into the review.

STEP 2 — Create Curiosity & Concern (Work Policy Specific)

SCRIPT

“But I am seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

→ Pause.

“When was the last time you talked to an agent about the benefits at work?”

→ Listen.

Follow up:

“When you first started working there, did you have any major health concerns at that time?”

→ Listen carefully.

PURPOSE

These questions establish:

- The client likely has not reviewed their benefits recently
 - They may have originally qualified at a better health rating
 - There may have been an opportunity to lock in better coverage

STEP 3 — Insert the Angle (Work Policy)

SCRIPT

“So were you aware that the type of policy you are in will actually expire on you once you are done working?”

→ Pause and listen.

Once they say no:

“A work policy is only covering you while you are working, and not outside of the workplace.”

→ Pause.

“So if you ever leave that job, get laid off, or retire, that coverage does not go with you.”

→ Pause.

“It is actually showing here that one of our partners like (Carrier Name) had noticed this, and had tried to reach out to you about setting up a permanent policy...”

“...one that would cover you both inside and outside of work, and would never expire when you retire from your job.”

→ Pause and listen.

PURPOSE

This angle creates three realizations:

- Coverage is temporary
- It does not follow them long-term
- It does not fully protect them outside of work

Then introduces the solution:

👉 A policy they own and keep permanently

STEP 4 — Assign Responsibility

SCRIPT

“Why in the world did you not go ahead and set that up when you had the chance?”

→ Pause and listen.

PURPOSE

Creates emotional engagement by suggesting the opportunity was already available.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddling Stage)

SCRIPT

“Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened.”

“Someone definitely dropped the ball here.”

“Because that definitely should have been explained to you.”

PURPOSE

Releases tension and positions the agent as the person helping fix the situation.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well ____, I’m assuming if you knew that your work coverage would not follow you, and that you could have something permanent that you actually own, you probably would have gone ahead and set that up, right?”

→ Wait for response:

- Yes
 - Absolutely
 - Definitely

PURPOSE

Gets the client to verbally agree that permanent coverage is the better option.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent that out a long time ago ____, I’m not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea, AND help you with (reason they are calling) as well.”

→ Application

Quote Shopper Angle

QUOTE SHOPPER ANGLE

Post Hold Process — Quote Shopper Scenario

STEP 1 — Reassure

SCRIPT

“Alright ____, are you still with me?” → “Perfect.”

“So I did go ahead and take a look at everything on my end.”

PURPOSE

Reconnect with the caller after the hold and prepare them to hear the quote information.

STEP 2 — Confirm Coverage They Were Looking For

SCRIPT

“So based on what you told me earlier, you were looking to set up about $____ in coverage, mainly to take care of (what they told you earlier — family protection, funeral expenses, mortgage, etc.).”

“And looking through all the carriers available in your state, that amount of coverage would come out to around $____ per month.”

→ Pause.

PURPOSE

This step confirms that you understood the caller’s coverage goal and establishes credibility by showing that you checked all available carriers.

STEP 3 — Create Curiosity & Concern

SCRIPT

“But I am seeing some confusing and concerning things on my end.”

→ Pause.

"Have you ever filled out a life insurance request before?"

→ Listen.

PURPOSE

This question establishes that the caller may have submitted requests previously, preparing them to hear that an offer may have already been available.

STEP 4 — Insert the Angle (Quote Shopper / Preferred Rate)

SCRIPT

"It's actually showing here that one of our top carriers like (Carrier Name) was going to let you have that same coverage for about $80 less per month."

"Why in the world did you not go ahead and set up the preferred rate when they sent that out to you?"

→ Pause and listen.

PURPOSE

This angle introduces the idea that the caller may have missed the opportunity to lock in a preferred rate.

The caller now believes they may have been able to:

- Secure the same coverage
- Pay significantly less per month
- Lock in the preferred rate

This creates emotional engagement before moving into the next step.

STEP 5 — Align With the Client (Coddle)

SCRIPT

"Oh my gosh ____, I am so sorry this happened."

"Someone definitely dropped the ball here."

"Because that definitely should have been explained to you."

PURPOSE

This step releases the tension created in the blame stage and positions the agent as the person helping correct the issue.

STEP 6 — Assumption Agreement

SCRIPT

“Well ____, I’m assuming if you knew you could have had that same coverage for about $80 less per month, you probably would have gone ahead and set that up, right?”

→ Wait for clients response.

PURPOSE

Gets the caller to verbally agree that locking in the lower rate would have been the correct decision.

STEP 7 — Takeaway Close

SCRIPT

“Well since they sent that out a long time ago ____, I’m not even quite sure they will still let you do it.”

“But let me see if I could go to war for you and reinstate what should have happened since you had no idea.”

→ Application

Three Option Close

THREE OPTION CLOSE

Application Process — Mid Application Coverage Selection

STEP 1 — Frame the Decision

SCRIPT

“So I’ve got some good news and some bad news for you.”

→ Pause.

“The good news is you actually got pre-approved for up to $40,000 in coverage.”

“Sounds like your health is actually pretty good.”

→ Pause.

“The bad news is I’m going to be your personal life insurance agent for the rest of your life.”

(light tone)

STEP 2 — Reinforce the Coverage Goal

SCRIPT

“So we already know that we’re (angle Insert)”

STEP 3 — Introduce the Upgrade Opportunity

SCRIPT

“So I was able to get the other options pulled up on my end.”

Pitch the first option that is keeping their coverage, or price the same

“Now you are the youngest and healthiest you are ever going to be, which means life insurance will be the cheapest right now.”

“So if you were ever thinking about upgrading your coverage, now would be the time to do it since it will be the lowest price you will ever see.”

→ Pause.

STEP 4 — Present the Three Options

SCRIPT

I am seeing the other options they sent out as well.

“They sent you out:

Option A for $___ in coverage for $___ per month.”

Option B for $___ in coverage for $___ per month.”

Option C for $___ in coverage for $___ per month.”

→ Pause.

STEP 5 — Decision Question

SCRIPT

"If you had seen any of these options earlier, which one would have made the most sense for you and your family?"

→ Listen.

STEP 6 — Price Objection Recovery

(If the client says the options are too expensive.)

SCRIPT

"No problem."

We will just go ahead and, (adjust per the angle of the call)

PURPOSE

This removes the price objection by bringing the client back to a payment they already said was affordable earlier in the call.

STEP 7 — Reinstatement Transition

“Perfect.”

“Let me see if I can reinstate that for you.”

Billing page

BILLING PAGE

Application Process — Payment Verification & Draft Setup

STEP 1 — Introduce Billing Verification

SCRIPT

"I was not the initial underwriting agent on your policy, so I just need to go ahead and verify the routing and account number."

→ Pause.

PURPOSE

This frames the request as a verification step, not as asking for banking information from scratch.

This reduces suspicion and keeps the process feeling procedural and normal.

STEP 2 — Handle Banking Hesitation

(If the client says they are uncomfortable providing their banking information.)

SCRIPT

"No worries."

"I can actually verify your routing number and make sure we have the correct one on file."

“What is the name of your financial institution?”

→ Proceed with verification.

PURPOSE

This reassures the client that the process is secure and that you are simply verifying the information.

STEP 3 — Handle Timing Objection

(If the client says they cannot have the payment drafted right now.)

SCRIPT

“No worries.”

“What is the best time of the month to have this come out of your account?”

→ Adjust the billing date accordingly.

PURPOSE

This removes the objection by allowing the client to choose the billing timing, rather than stopping the application.

STEP 4 — Standard Billing Confirmation

(If the client provides their banking information without hesitation.)

SCRIPT

"Okay ____."

"Typically these policies are drafted within 24 to 48 hours to make sure you are immediately protected."

"God forbid you were to pass away next week, the policy would pay out to ____ (beneficiary name)."

→ Pause.

"After that it would just be recurring each month on the date of the application."

"Is that comfortable for you now and in the future?"

PURPOSE

This step:

- Reinforces immediate protection
 - Connects the payment directly to beneficiary protection
 - Confirms that the billing setup works long-term

STEP 5 — Continue the Application

SCRIPT

"Perfect."

"Let's go ahead and finish getting everything submitted for you."

PURPOSE

This keeps the process moving forward toward final submission of the policy.
